GENERAL INFORMATION

History

The Chowan Baptist Female Institute was founded in 1848 by the Baptists of Eastern North Carolina and Virginia, who felt the urgent need of a school of higher education and liberal culture for their young women. They accordingly erected and furnished a beautiful and commodious brick building, four stories high, which still stands as an honor to the liberality and artistic taste of its founders. The school began at once to supply, in an efficient manner, the great need of the Chowan section of the State. Able and well-trained teachers were attracted to its chairs, students flocked to its halls. Its doors were not even closed during the War between the States. pioneer in the education of women soon became the boast and glory of the Baptists of the Old North State. It has graduated more than four hundred women, many of whom have either become prominent themselves or become wives and mothers of men who have distinguished themselves in the history of the State and of the denomination. Later other buildings were added.

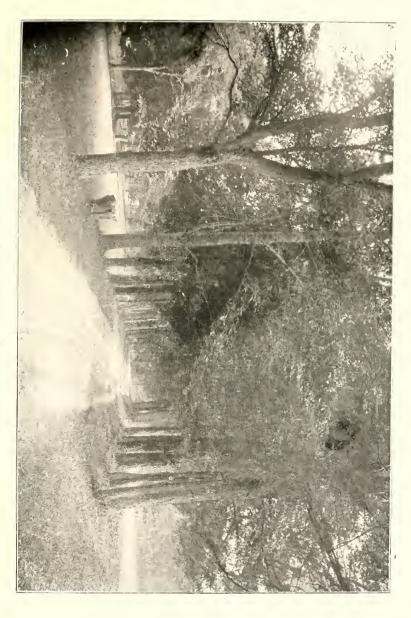

Chowan Institute has had many able and distinguished presidents. Succeeding the Rev. Amos J. Battle, the principal of the school when it had its home in the brick building recently occupied by the late Dr. W. G. Freeman, and was called the Bank's School, the Rev. Martin R. Forey became the first president of the Chowan Baptist Female Collegiate Institute. Dr. Forey was a native of New York, and a graduate of Madison University of that State. He was a man of fine literary culture and of great energy. President Forey was succeeded by the scholarly Rev. William Hooper, D.D., L.L.D., a grandson of the illustrious William Hooper, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Dr. Hooper, formerly Professor of Latin in the State University, was a fine classical scholar and an excellent writer. The next president was the Rev. Archibald McDowell, a native of South Carolina, and a graduate of Wake Forest College. He was a ripe scholar and a good business man. Prof. John B. Brewer, a graduate of Wake Forest College, followed Mr. McDowell, and added considerably to the reputation of the Institute. Following Mr. Brewer came Mr. W. O. Petty, who remained only one year, giving way to the Hon. John C. Scarborough, who had been for a number of years Superintendent of Public Instruction in North Carolina. The present incumbent is James D. Bruner, Ph.D., a native of Kentucky, a graduate of the Johns Hopkins University, and recently Professor of Romance Languages in the State Universities of Illinois and North Carolina and in the University of Chicago.

The name of the Chowan Baptist Female Institute is to be changed to Chowan College. The management has already been so changed that the College is no longer leased to the president, but is owned and controlled by the trustees and the Baptists of the two Chowan Associations, who guarantee the salary of the president and of the teachers. The profits, if any, become the property of the College. The following are the plans of the president and trustees:

Needs of the Institute

Our ambition is to make the Institute a high-class small college limited to about two hundred students. We have no desire to become a University or to do graduate work. attain our ambition there are several pressing needs, the first of which is to remove the ten thousand dollar debt which has been hanging like an ominous cloud over the Institute. More than one-third of this has been pledged and the president hopes to raise the balance during the year 1910. The next most urgent need is twenty thousand dollars for a new dormitory and for the remodeling and harmonizing of the old building and the two new buildings into a beautiful style of architecture, together with a suitable heating and light plant. Ten thousand dollars are needed for the erection and equipment of buildings for the Schools of Music and Art and the Department of Natural Science. Another ten thousand dollars should be raised for a library and chapel, for a laundry, and for a barn and other out-door buildings, as well as for the improvement of our magnificent campus. In addition to all this, an endowment of one hundred thousand dollars should be provided. The West Chowan Association has already begun a movement in this direction, and it is believed that the old Chowan Association will cheerfully second this movement. It has been voted that each church be requested to make the Institute an object of the Association and to contribute annually to the endowment of the Institute. If the one hundred churches in the two Chowan Associations should contribute an average of twenty-five dollars a year, the Institute would soon be handsomely endowed.

Location

Chowan College is located within the corporate limits of the town of Murfreesboro, N. C., on the south side of the town. The site, embracing a tract of twenty-eight acres, is on a bluff about ninety feet high, and about one mile from the Meherrin River. It would be difficult to find better drainage, three deep ravines surrounding the town. The imposing College buildings, the beautiful lawn immediately in front of the main building, the winding walks ornamented with fine shade trees, shrubbery and flowers, the table land with boulevards, and a circular driveway bordered by grand, old pines, together with the surrounding hills and valleys suggestive of the Piedmont section, add greatly to the attractiveness of the place and furnish ample recreation grounds for faculty and students.

Health

Such a site and such surroundings naturally conduce to health. In fact, this location was selected in preference to several others on account of its celebrity for health. The history of the School for more than sixty years fully sustains this reputation. In addition to the excellent and pure water from the deep well on the campus, there are convenient to the College three unusually fine mineral springs, whose waters have been carefully analyzed by the State Chemist and pronounced pure and conducive to health.

Government

The one general rule is that the conduct of the students shall be lady-like. Whatever would tend to make a young lady have a proper respect for herself and due consideration for her neighbor, is encouraged, while anything that would be likely to detract from one's personal dignity and interfere with the reasonable liberty of one's fellow-students, is discountenanced. Young ladies who endeavor to live up to this standard soon find that their manners become more refined and that they are possessed of more social grace and ease. Moreover, their moral sense is quickened and ennobled. Whatever special rules the faculty may adopt will be in keeping with the spirit of this general rule.

A few special regulations are deemed necessary, as follows: Boarding pupils are not permitted to receive visits from young gentlemen, except upon the written requests of parents or guardians; nor are they permitted to spend the night out of the College. All unnecessary expenditures and all display of costly dress and jewelry are discouraged. Extensive correspondence is forbidden. Boxes of eatables, except fruit, are seldom desirable and may be returned. Only the President or Lady Principal can permit the violation or modification of these or any other special regulations that may be adopted from time to time by the faculty.

Religious Exercises

The College endeavors to train the emotions and the will of its pupils as well as their mind and body. Religion being the expression of the feelings of individuals in the presence of the Divine, it should form a part of one's education, which has been defined as the complete and harmonious development of all the powers of man, physical, mental, moral, social, and spiritual. Christian education is the development of all these powers in beautiful proportion and symmetry. Christian culture must deal with man, created in the image of God, in the threefold relation of body, mind and soul. Develop the body only, you may have an athlete; develop the mind only, you may have a skeptic; develop the heart only, you may have a fanatic; but educate the body, mind and heart, and you have the noblest work of God, the very climax of creation—a perfected man or woman.

"C. O. V. A." SOCIETY HALL.

In order to attain this high ideal, all the forces in Chowan College unite in an endeavor to create an atmosphere in which the spirit of the Great Teacher, Jesus, the God-man, reigns supreme. This spirit permeates all the courses of instruction. especially those in literature, history, moral science, and the Bible. The chapel exercises, moreover, assist in creating this spiritual atmosphere. In the middle of the day, in the very midst of the busy hours, the student body with the faculty leave the work in the lecture rooms and repair to the chapel. where fifteen minutes are spent in the worship of Almighty God. There is also a well organized Missionary Society, which meets twice each month, and in which the students are expected to take part. The purpose of the Society is to inculcate the spirit of missions and to deepen the spiritual life of the students. A course of study in missions is conducted by the Lady Principal, assisted by other teachers. From time to time eminent ministers. Bible students, and other professional men. deliver lectures on Biblical subjects. Sunday School pedagogy, and Missions. Another interesting and profitable feature of the religious work in the College is the frequent visits of the various pastors of the two Chowan Associations, who deliver addresses, preach sermons, conduct chapel exercises, and do pastoral work with student members of their own churches. In addition to all these, the students have the privilege of attending religious worship in the Baptist Church every Sunday. Several members of the faculty teach classes in the Sunday School.

Literary Societies

The two Literary Societies, the "P. N. A." and the "C. O. V. A.," are well organized and largely attended. The members of these Societies meet every Saturday night in their respective halls and carry out interesting and profitable programs in literature, music, and expression. The halls are simply but beautifully furnished. Every student is urged to become a member of one Society or the other.

The Library

The Cillege is equipped with a General Library and Reading-room for the use of the students and the faculty. Several hundred new volumes have just been added to the Library and the Reading-room is provided with a large number of the best current magazines and periodicals. The students have access to these at all hours of the day, and may take books to their rooms under certain conditions. During the past year several books have been presented to the Library by friends of the College, including Prof. George L. Raymond, of George Washington University, Judge B. B. Winborne, of Murfreesboro, and the President.

The Home Department

The Home or Domestic Department is presided over by the Lady Principal, assisted by the Housekeeper, the Matron, and the President. The table is supplied with abundant and wholesome food. Students who are too ill to go to the dining room for their meals may be cared for in the Infirmary.

The Bible is studied as literature, as history, and as our great moral and spiritual guide. Lectures on the titles and divisions of the Bible, the manuscripts and translations of the Bible, the geography of Bible lands, the history and customs of other nations which figure largely in the Bible, and the political, social, and religious conditions in New Testament times.

Text-books.—The Bible, Taylor's Outline Analysis of the Books of the Bible, Robertson's Epochs in the Life of Jesus, Dargan's Doctrines of Our Faith.

The Department of Education

MISS OLIVE AND MR. CURTIS.

The purpose of this department is to prepare young women for the profession of teaching. Much attention is given to the principles and theories of education, the nature and development of the child's mind, and the best methods of teaching.

NORMAL COURSE.—The principles, theories and methods of teaching. The phonetic method for primary teaching.

Text-books.—Haliburton's Phonics in Reading; Mc-Murry's General Method.

SATURDAY NORMAL COURSE.—School Administration and the History of Education. Lectures on the personality, preparation, and responsibility of the teacher, the preparation for opening school, punishment, treatment of school evils and morals, recitations, etc. The history of the methods of teaching. Educational psychology.

Text-books.—Seeley's New School Management; Mon-roe's History of Education; Thorndike's Principles of Teaching.

The Department of Physical Culture

The course in physical culture is required of all Freshmen and Sophomores. The purpose of this department is to build up and maintain a good physical condition. A sound mind requires a sound body. The result of physical culture is not only health, but also poise, ease, and grace. In the race to attain literary ideals, the tendency is to neglect the culture of the body. The Department endeavors to overcome this neglect by the use of the Emerson System of Physical Culture, and by exercises from other systems, including the Swedish System of Gymnastics.

Pupils will be coached in Tennis, Basketball, and other outdoor sports.

The School of Expression

MISS LOIS VANN.

The study of Expression seeks to awaken in the student a realization of her own potentialities, to develop a clear magnetic voice, graceful and easy manners, and the virtues of sincerity and simplicity. Such study naturally begins with physical training. The voice is so trained that its purity, sweetness and power are fully developed. The pupils are taught to express themselves simply and naturally in order that they may become natural and artistic readers. Besides being encouraged to develop their own individuality and to attain a charming personal culture, they are trained to perform their social functions with grace and effectiveness.

The pupils recite before the class weekly, and public recitals are given frequently during the year.

Expression I.—Physical culture. Talks on health, voice culture, articulation, inflection, quality of tone, abandonment in reading; recitations and declamations; sight-reading, and gesture.

Text-book.—Evolution of Expression, Vols. I and II.

EXPRESSION 2.—Physical and voice culture, with lectures on each and their relation to health; advanced rendering; platform art and gesture.

Text-book.—Evolution of Expression, Vols. III and IV.

Expression 3.—Physical and voice culture; dramatic art; normal work; extemporaneous speaking; study of Shakespeare's plays; English and Bible reading.

Text-Book.—Practical Public Speaking.

School of Music

MISS JOHNSON, MISS SHIELDS, AND MISS FEREBEE.

Music is now regarded as an essential element in the liberal education and culture of young women. It affords both mental discipline and spiritual refinement. A good English education is desirable and almost necessary for those who wish to pursue to the best advantage the higher courses in Music.

The Department of Instrumental Music

MISS JOHNSON, MISS SHIELDS, AND MISS FEREBEE.

PIANO A.—Fundamental work in Technique; Formation of Intervals; Relationship of Keys; Formation of Major Scales.

A clear knowledge of Rhythm. Kohler, Op. 50, 190; Streabbog, Op. 63; Czerny, Op. 139; Duvernoy, Op. 176. Elementary pieces by Clementi, Gurlitt, Burgmuller, and Handrock, etc.

PIANO I.—Scales and Arpeggios. Duvernoy, Op. 120; Berens, Op. 61, Books I and 2; Krause, Op. 4; Loeschhorn, Op. 65, Books I and 2; Clementi Sonatas, Op. 36; Pieces of medium difficulty by Haydn, Kuhlau, Merkel, Lichner, etc.

- PIANO 2.—Czerny, Op. 299, Books I and 2; Hasert, Op. 50; Loeschhorn, Op. 66, Books I and 2; Heller's Studies, Op. 46; Bach's little Preludes and Fugues; Pieces by Mozart, Meyer, Jansen, Dvorak, Spindler, etc.
- PIANO 3.—Scale work in Thirds, Sixths, and Tenths; Cramer Studies; Czerny, Op. 740; Doering, Octave Studies; Bach, Inventions (2 and 3 part); Sonatas of Haydn, Mozart, and the easier ones of Beethoven; Pieces by Mendelssohn, Grieg, Handel, Henselt, Rubinstein, Schuett, Tschaikowski, etc.
- PIANO 4.—Clementi, Gradus ad Parnassum; practice of Minor Scales and Double Thirds; Bach's Preludes and Fugues; Kullah, Octave Studies; Chopin, Preludes and Studies; Schumann's Novelettes; Chopin's Ballades; Beethoven's Sonatas; Selections by Liszt, Brahms, Handel, Mendelssohn, Saint-Saens, etc.

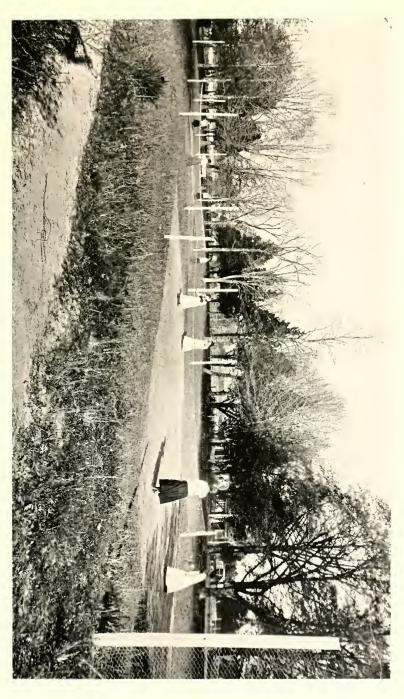

No definite time can be fixed for the completion of the courses in Music, as progress depends largely on the pupil's natural ability and the time devoted to practice. All pupils finishing the Pianoforte course are required to take the full course in Musical History, Harmony, and Theory.

Recitals are given throughout the year, so that students may have the opportunity of playing in public.

The Department of Vocal Music

MISS SHIELDS.

- VOICE 1.—Correct breathing and its application. Salvatore Marchesi, Op. 15, with Italian pronunciation. Simple English songs. Very little public singing.
- VOICE 2.—Work towards greater flexibility and development of tone. Selections from Oratorios for study. Review of Marchesi, Op. 15. Matilde Marchesi, Op. 2, begun. English and German songs of moderate difficulty.
- VOICE 3.—Continuation of Marchesi and other studies. English, German, and French songs. Further study of Oratorio and Standard Operas.

Voice 4.—Studies continued. Interpretation; preparation for public recital.

The chorus meets twice a week for the study and practice of songs and choruses. It is open to all students, but it is required of those taking the courses in Voice.

The Department of Theoretical Music

MISS SHIELDS.

Theory of Music.—Elements of Music. Pease and Lawrence Instruction Course.

HISTORY OF MUSIC.—Clarence Hamilton's Outlines of Musical History.

HARMONY I.—Skinner's Beginner's Harmony.

HARMONY 2.—Completion of Skinner's Work on Harmony; Anger's Harmony, Vol. I.

The School of Art

MISS PARROTT.

The School of Art is provided with a large studio and with all necessary equipment, including an excellent China Kiln. The possibility for nature study in the beautiful surroundings of the College is probably unsurpassed in all the South. Students will study almost entirely from life and nature.

ART A.—A Saturday normal course of one hour a week has been arranged for those students who may wish to prepare for teaching drawing in the public or graded schools. The Webb and Ware books, which are required in the public schools, will be used; also suggestions from the Prang Art Educational Books. Arrangement has been made with the Superintendent of Public Instruction to excuse from the State Examination in Drawing those students who pass successfully this course.

ART I.—Drawing in charcoal from geometrical figures and familiar objects. Drawing in pencil or pen from foliage and flowers. Flat washes in water color.

- ART 2.—Lessons in perspective and composition. Drawings from casts of parts of the human figure. Color studies from still life and from nature.
- ART 3.—Outdoor sketching in oil, water color, and pastel. First steps in sketching from life. Perspective and Composition.
- ART 4.—Figure and portrait painting from life. Landscape from nature. Perspective, composition, and color tone.

 Text-book.—Goodyear's History of Art.
- ART 5.—China painting. This is a special course which students may take alone or in connection with the regular courses in Art.
- ART 6.—Clay modeling. From simple forms modeled from nature. This course leads to portrait medallions from photographs or from life.

Admission

Students may be admitted to the Freshman Class by certificate, by examination, or by permission of the President. In the last case the President, after consultation with the applicant and the teachers concerned, assigns the student to the classes into which she seems prepared to enter. If later it is discovered that the applicant is not sufficiently advanced to do with credit the work assigned, she is required to enter lower classes. The same tests are demanded of students who may desire to enter the higher classes. Those who are not fully prepared to enter the Freshman Class may take the courses offered in the Preparatory School.

Examinations

There are written examinations on all subjects at the end of each term. In order to pass on any subject the student must obtain a grade of seventy (70) per cent, the term grade and the examination grade counting one-half each. A student who falls below the grade of seventy will be required to take another examination either in the following September or with the next year's class. Seniors may take another examination in May. A student who falls below the grade of fifty will be required to

A STUDENT'S ROOM.

All boarders are required to furnish towels, table napkins, one counterpane, one pair of blankets, one pair of sheets, and one pair of pillow-cases.

The daughters of ministers who live by the ministry are admitted to all the advantages of the Literary Department at a discount of fifty per cent.

Transportation

Chowan College is now within easy reach of its students. Those along the line of the Southern Railway or the Atlantic Coast Line, or lines connected with these, can come by way of these roads to Tunis, on the Chowan River, and thence by steamer up the beautiful Chowan and Meherrin Rivers to Murfreesboro. A comfortable steam launch from Murfreesboro meets every train at Tunis, except on Sunday. Those along the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, and lines connected with it, can get off at Conway, where they will, when notice is given in time, be met by hacks from Murfreesboro. Those coming from Edenton and other points down the Chowan River can change boats, if they so desire, at Tunis.
